Family Fun Day raises £600 for Manchester fund

Air Show launch event tickets up for grabs!

Jessica with the hair she has had cut off for the Little Princess Trust

Jessica gets the chop for a worthy cause

AN 11-year-old girl from Skelmersdale, whose parents say she was "born with a pony tail" has had 23 inches of her beloved locks cut for charity.

Before the sponsored cut at Lyns Kutz in Ormskirk Road, Jessica's Jackson's hair touched the back of her knees.

But the youngster decided she would like to do something good for charity before school started this month. And she reckoned the best way to do this was by having her long locks cut and donated to the Little Princess Trust charity which donates wigs to children with cancer for free.

With the wigs costing anything from £350 to £500 to make, Jessica also wanted to raise funds as well and so far raised more than £300.

She has received a lot of support and would like to thank everyone who has sponsored her so far.

She said: "My mum and dad said I was born with a ponytail. I've always wanted to keep growing my hair to see how long I could get it.

"But this year I start secondary school and wanted a new look and what better way than to cut my hair? I always said that if I did, I wanted to donate it to a charity and this is the perfect charity for me."

CHARITY'S £50,000 'LIFELINE' APPEAL

Report by Henry James

Community urged to follow Molly's lead

OFFICIALS of a popular Skelmersdale-based children's charity have launched an appeal to raise £50,000 in a bid to keep it open.

Twinkle House has been providing sensory-based sessions for children and young people with disabilities and additional needs for 14 years.

The charity in Gorsey Place, East Gillibrands receives no government funding and needs £100,000 each year to maintain the vital services it provides to the community, as well as paying full rent to the local authority for use of the premises.

Half of that total can be raised by hiring out their hydrotherapy pool and sensory rooms to the general public, supplemented by grants to support the costs of staff and specialist equipment.

Now they have launched their Sparkle Appeal in a bid to raise the remaining £50,000 and provide a lifeline for the well-loved charity.

And they are hoping the West Lancashire community will rally round to the cause and follow the example set by local youngster Molly Corps.

The nine-year-old, who attends Twinkle House to use the hydrotherapy pool and sensory rooms, set the ball rolling on the appeal by organising a raffle.

She contacted local businesses to ask for their help in donating goods to use and Great Bear Distribution in Skelmersdale responded by donating chocolates and sweets which Molly used as raffle prizes, raising more than £200.

Jill Boardman, chief executive at Twinkle House, said: "It would be a travesty if we had to close after 14 years. The services we provide are for the community and we hope residents will help us to secure our future.

Molly Corps with some of the raffle prizes which helped her to raise £217.88 for Twinkle House and Ian Williams and Helen Seddon from the charity

"Molly came to Twinkle House during our recent service user consultation where she saw a notice stating that we only have 12 months funding left and need help.

"She was saddened by this and wanted to do something to help. In a very short time she raised more than £200 which is a brilliant achievement for a young girl and much appreciated by everyone at the charity.

"Now we are appealing to local West Lancashire businesses, groups and individuals to follow Molly's example and help us to achieve our Sparkle Appeal target of £50,000 by housing one of our new collection boxes, holding a fundraising activity, event or just making a donation to the charity."

Shocked

Meanwhile, Molly hasn't finished her own fundraising drive just yet and is planning to hold another raffle later in the year.

She said: "I find the services at Twinkle House very relaxing and they help me de-stress. When I found out that it has only one year of funds left and might close I was shocked. This would be awful for me as I would have nowhere else to go where I could feel calm and be able to relax with my family and friends.

"I want to help raise the £50,000 and will continue my own efforts but I also want to encourage others to help too and am asking Champion readers to help me to do this.

"If you can help to keep Twinkle House open for children like me, please get in touch with Twinkle House by emailing enquiries@twinklehouse.co.uk or call them on 01695 455625."

And Molly's mum, Lisa McDermott, added: "We are really pleased that Molly was able to raise the money. The staff at Twinkle House are very good with the children, so we wanted to do something to help them."

Public encouraged to attend CCG meetings

MEMBERS of the public are being invited to find out more about NHS services in the area by attending the annual general meeting of the NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG).

This will be held at Parbold Village Hall on The Green on Tuesday, September 26 starting at 11.30am.

CCG officials say the meeting will offer an opportunity for residents to learn more about the organisation's role and also to ask any questions they may have about health services in West Lancashire.

Mike Maguire, chief officer at NHS West Lancashire CCG, said: "Our annual general meeting is an opportunity for the CCG to not only highlight our achievements, challenges and plans for the year ahead, but also for us to be able to speak to and answer questions from the public."

This year's AGM is being jointly hosted alongside the West Lancs Council for Voluntary Services (CVS).

Greg Mitten, chief officer of West Lancs CVS and lay member for patient and public participation at the CCG, added: "Bringing together both the AGM and our own health network event, is an opportunity for the community to hear about the work of our local NHS and understand the contribution the voluntary and third sector make within West Lancashire."

Mike Maguire, chief officer at NHS West Lancs CCG

In addition, groups and organisations from the voluntary, community and faith sectors will be hosting informative market stalls offering useful information and advice.

Refreshments will be provided on the day and anyone wishing to attend is requested to book in advance by emailing vicky@wlcvs.org or by calling 01695 733 737 advising of any special dietary, sensory or accessibility needs.

Registration takes place at 11.30am and the meeting is expected to finish at around 2.30pm.

CCG members will answer questions on the day and would welcome any submitted in advance by email at myview@westlancashireccg.nhs.uk or by calling 01695 588 203.

The CCG's board meeting will also take place at the same venue starting at 9.30am and members of the local community are welcome to attend to observe.

Questions relating to items on the agenda - which is published one week prior to the meeting on the CCG's website, www.westlancashireccg.nhs.uk - can also be raised by ringing 01695 588 144 by noon on Monday, September 25.

● Meanwhile, the CCG will also be holding its primary care committee meeting in public on Tuesday, September 12 from 1.30 to 3pm at the CCG offices in Hilldale on the Ormskirk Hospital site.

Steve Gross, board lay member at NHS West Lancashire CCG and chair of the new primary care committee, said: "Our move to level three co-commissioning earlier this year is a significant development for the CCG and for the health and wellbeing of the residents that we serve.

"These new committee meetings are held in public so anyone can observe them, which further reflects our commitment to be transparent about our plans and decisions."

For instructions on how to find the office, visit the CCG website www.westlancashireccg.nhs.uk. or ring 01695 588 000. The agenda will be made available on the website a week before the meeting.

The rise of the 'silver splitter'

We are all now familiar with the terms 'silver surfers' and the 'silver pound', but a new phenomenon has started to occur – silver splitters.

There has been in recent years a marked increase in more mature people in life deciding enough is enough and separating from their spouse. As life expectancy increases, so can the dismay at the thought of being in one's 60's or 70's and being with a significant other for what may be a further 20 years. Whether it's the end of a very long term marriage or the demise of a shorter second (or even third time) relationship these separations can come at one of the most difficult times of life.

Of course, any divorce is upsetting, but when the clients are into their 60's and even older, there are a whole host of emotional and practical considerations to be taken into account.

Grown up children can take their parents separation every bit as badly as young children. Often families are completely thrown asunder and that is particularly so if a third party is put into the mix such as a new partner. It can be very difficult as the grown up child of divorcing parents not to take sides.

Just as the family hoped to see parents (or grandparents) settle into retirement, a whole host of new considerations needs to be thought about when there is such a split; where will everyone live, will the old family home have to be sold and how can the income go round fairly to support those who need it? This is particularly the case where one party (more often than not the wife) has devoted time and career to raising children, in the realistic expectation of being supported for the rest of their lives by their spouse. Equally problematic is the demise of a brief late in life marriage, where the parties have brought differing assets into the relationship. Balancing the needs of the parties and the contributions that they have made to the relationship can be a minefield.

At these times it is vital to get specialist matrimonial advice to ensure that decisions made as a relationship breaks down are the right ones. We can also advise you fully about wills and lasting powers of attorneys so that, following a fundamental change in circumstances, you get the right tailored information.

At Dickinson Parker Hill, we have experts in both fields and have been offering sensible and practical for many years. If these issues concern you, please ring to make an appointment.

Shop owners blast county council over lost trade

Report by Henry James

BUSINESSES in Skelmersdale have accused Lancashire County Council of costing them money by closing a road to do repairs on one of their busiest days of the week.

Angry shopkeepers on Sandy Lane say they lost trade after county council contractors arrived last Friday (September 1) to do resurfacing work on Hutton Road.

Sharon Foat, from the Barbers Shop, claimed that the road was closed until lunchtime and workmen were only letting residents drive down it and turning other motorists away.

She said: "On a Friday morning we would usually have 25 to 30 customers, but last week we only had two because the road was closed and nobody could get to us.

"It was an absolute joke. We were sat about twiddling our thumbs with no customers.

"I rang up the council and they said people complain about the roads but when they fix them they also complain.

"But why could they not have done the work on a Sunday? Friday is our busiest day.

"They were letting residents drive up so why not customers?

"Before the work started we were informed that customers would be allowed down Hutton Road."

Shop and business owners from Sandy Lane and Witham Road in Old Skelmersdale say road closures hit trade

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council commented: "We try to minimise disruption as far as possible when carrying out essential work such as road resurfacing, which includes not closing a road for any longer than needed, and ensuring that residents and businesses can still access their properties.

"We're sorry for any inconvenience as a result of the road closure on Friday morning."

Organiser Natasha Collins and members of the community who attended the Manchester Forever Family Fun Day at Up Holland Labour Club.

Family Fun Day raises £600 for Manchester Arena fund

A HAIR and beauty therapist from Up Holland has hailed the big hearts of her local community after her charity fun day raised hundreds of pounds for the survivors and families of victims of the Manchester Arena terror attack.

Showing that she has a big heart herself, the fun day is the second community-minded event that 28-year-old Natasha Collins has organised after previously setting up a pamper day for residents of a local care home,

Bringing together entertainment and fun activities for all the family at Up Holland Labour Club, Natasha raised an impressive £587, which she rounded up to £600.

She said: "I am more than happy with the result. Overall it was a fantastic day with lots of laughs and as I have said from the start every little helps.

"I am fully appreciative of every bit of help I received, from entertainment to raffle prizes. The people and businesses of Skelmersdale and Up Holland have big hearts and I am happy to have met even more great people through such a good cause."

Vets' funds boost

MEMBERS of Skelmersdale Veterans' Association held a collection during the Bank Holiday weekend at the ASDA store in the town and raised £1,164.40.

Alan Lewis from the association said: "We would like to say thank-you very much to members of the public who gave to us. The association would also like to thank Harry McKenzie for organising the collection. "

Meanwhile the association are holding a Military Dinner to mark 100th anniversary of Passchendaele on Saturday, September 9 at the Evermoor Hub Community Centre.

Skem ace arrows in on trophy again

ARCHER Jack Grogan has picked up the silverware again.

The Skelmersdale ace was on target at the Croesoswallt Archers annual Silver Dollar tournament on Sunday, September 3 at the Robert Jones and Agnes Hunt orthopaedic hospital near Oswestry.

The round shot was a double American round which consists of shooting 30 arrows at each relatively short distance of 60, 50 and 40 yards respectively. The same is then repeated after a lunch break.

Grogan has successfully competed at this tournament regularly and with the exception of when he was unable to compete in 2015 due to a crushed hand through an industrial accident, has won the Gents recurve trophy every time he has entered.

Dominating from the start, Jack continued to extend his lead over his opponents at every distance shot.

The second round in the afternoon continued to see him take an unassailable lead that secured him the silverware at the trophy presentation.

Along with the trophy which he has won six times previously, he was awarded a mounted Silver Dollar which gives its name to the tournament.

Couch to 5K course leaders and participants at a course session

'Couch to 5k' programme is up and running!

THE first Active West Lancs Couch to 5K programme has taken place in Skelmersdale with more than 25 people completing it.

The aim was to encourage complete beginners to start running and build up enough stamina over 12 weeks to be able to complete 5k at the end of the programme.

About 70 people started the programme and at the beginning a lot of the runners were nervous as to what they were signing up for. But with the help and motivation from run leaders and volunteers, the runners committed to two sessions a week and gradually went from small beginnings in week one to a continuous 35 to 45-minute run in week 12.

Organisers have said that the runners showed sheer grit, determination and team spirit, and more than 25 completed and successfully ran the 5k at the end of the programme.

Only a few days after completing the programme 10 runners, with encouragement from run leaders, took part in their first ever organised 5k event and completed the course.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, West Lancs Council's cabinet member for leisure, said: "We are so proud of all the runners and have encouraged them to continue running by taking part in the weekly Park Run at Edge Hill University on Saturday mornings.

"Even those who did not complete the 12-week programme will hopefully have experienced some health benefits, depending on how long they were on the course.

"We would like to thank Our Lady Queen of Peace Engineering College for allowing us to use their facilities free of charge."

After the success of the Skelmersdale programme, the next Couch to 5k programme will start at Lordsgate Township CE Primary School, Burscough on Monday, September 11.

Residents urged to self-care to avoid unnecessary trips to GP surgeries and A&E

HEALTH officials in West Lancashire are reminding residents to self-care to avoid any unnecessary trips to their GP.

Many minor ailments and conditions can easily be managed at home by simply visiting a local pharmacy and keeping a well-stocked medicine cabinet.

And NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) is helping residents to understand how they can avoid any unnecessary trips to their GP or the A&E department.

Dr John Caine, local GP and chair at NHS West Lancashire CCG, said: "We know from speaking to our community that they would like to play a more active role in their health and help to manage their own conditions. Many GP appointments are unknowingly made unnecessarily with minor ailments that can easily be treated with a visit to a local pharmacy.

"By patients, pharmacies and GP practices working together in this way, this will inevitably free up local GPs to attend to and see patients with more complicated medical needs sooner."

The move follows the announcement in July that NHS West Lancashire CCG is to remove items that are considered of low clinical value and items that are easily available from supermarkets and shops from prescription as of September 4.

NHS
West Lancashire
Clinical Commissioning Group
SAVING MONEY IS SAVING LIVES
From Monday 4 September 2017, many medicines and treatments for minor ailments, will no longer be available on prescription* and will now need to be purchased from local pharmacies and supermarkets.
The NHS in West Lancashire is currently spending £390,000 annually, prescribing medicines for minor ailments, such as coughs and colds, hay fever and general aches and pains.
It can cost the NHS around four times more to prescribe these items than it does to buy yourself.
This is the equivalent of:
10,833 GP appointments
3,451 A&E attendances
3,421 MRI scans
97 Stroke treatments

One of the posters produced by the CCG

These include:

- Treatments for minor ailments and conditions, such as paracetamol and ibuprofen.
- Treatments where there is little evidence that they have a real clinical benefit, such as cough syrups.
- Products that do not require clinical treatment, such as bath and shower products.

The CCG has created new promotional materials around the theme 'Saving Money is Saving Lives' which are currently being distributed across West Lancashire.

These will encourage patients to self-care, while explaining how by doing so and removing items considered to be of low clinical value the CCG can re-invest this money back into other services.

Dr Caine continued: "In 2016, the CCG spent £390,000 prescribing medicines, treatments and conditions that fall under self-care. Savings made by removing these items from prescription can be reimbursed back into savings within West Lancashire to benefit the community.

"This change in prescribing won't apply to everyone and certain patients will be exempt. This includes patients with a chronic pain management need, babies, pregnant women and breastfeeding mothers, care home residents and patients being cared for at the end of their life."

Residents can learn more about self-care and what medicines, products and conditions fall under it, by visiting the NHS West Lancashire CCG website or speaking to their local GP.

If anyone has been affected by this change or wants to share their views they can contact the CCG on 01695 588 000 or by emailing myview@westlancashireccg.nhs.uk.

41 weapons handed in during two-week knife amnesty

A TOTAL of 41 knives were handed in across Lancashire Police's Southern Division which includes West Lancashire during a fortnight-long amnesty.

The force held the surrender as part of a national initiative to tackle knife crime and to remove weapons from Lancashire's streets.

Among the weapons given up in the Southern Division were combat knives, kitchen knives and large blades. Officers will now safely dispose of all of the items that were handed in.

There was a knife surrender point in Skelmersdale with others in the Southern Division at Preston, Chorley, and South Ribble.

Test purchasing operations were also carried out as part of the action against knife crime, with the force using police cadet volunteers to check on businesses selling knives or blades.

The majority of premises across the county were compliant and the few that failed are now working with officers and trading standards to resolve the issues, improve their standards and amend the training that staff receive whilst working for them.

Despite the surrender coming to an end, police say people can continue to hand in any knife at any police station.

Chief Inspector Mark Baines said: "I would still appeal to youngsters that carrying a knife doesn't offer them protection, and not only is being in possession of a knife in a public place a criminal offence, they are also more likely to be stabbed and seriously injured with their own weapon."

Industrial units refurbishment plans recommended for approval

PLANS submitted by West Lancashire Borough Council to refurbish units 38 and 40 at Gorsey Place, Skelmersdale have been recommended for approval by council officers.

The plans will be heard at a planning committee meeting on Thursday, September 7.

The units, on the Gillibrands Industrial Estate, they have a flat roof and a roller shutter door to the front elevation, which leads onto the yard.

The proposals would see the refurbishment of the buildings. This would include the building of a pitched roof to each building and cladding of the building.

In a report for the meeting the director of development and regeneration at the borough council John Harrison wrote: "The proposed alterations are to an existing industrial building within the estate and the alterations would improve the appearance and functionality of that building."

Mr Harrison also looked at the design and layout of the application and added: "The design and materials of the proposed alterations to nos. 38 and 40 would be in keeping with the appearance of the other buildings within the local area and that the alterations to the roofline would not adversely impact on the street scene.

"The cladding materials would match those approved on the adjoining building no. 36 and therefore I am satisfied it would be appropriate in this location."

Mr Harrison assessed the impact of the work on homes nearby and commented that the nearest residential properties are 185 metres from the site on the opposite side of Whiteledge Road.

Further dwellings are 250 metres to the north of the site.

Mr Harrison wrote: "Due to the location of the proposed development in relation to the nearby buildings I am satisfied there would not be any significant adverse impact on the neighbouring land uses."

There are no changes proposed to the access or parking layout within the site and Mr Harrison is "satisfied that the development would have no adverse impact on highway safety in the area."

Men-Aces complete 24-hour non-stop football challenge

Report by Henry James

THE big-hearted members of the Skem Men-aces disability football team put their stamina to the test when they completed a 24-hour, non-stop football challenge at the weekend, starting at 3pm on Saturday and ending at 3pm on the Sunday.

The event was to collect funds, not only for the team but also for a three-year-old called Lola Ward, who lives in Skelmersdale, who has a very rare syndrome called Mowat-Wilson syndrome, a genetic condition that affects many parts of the body.

Mim Eaton from the Men-Aces said: "It was pretty tough going especially in the early hours of Sunday morning.

"We tried to raise our spirits by singing, wearing silly hats and saying captions from Disney cartoons. This picked everyone's spirits up.

"As the hours ticked by there were many aching legs and stiff backs but thankfully these were put right in a few minutes by Steve McDonald from West Lancs College's sports therapy department.

"The last hour ticked by really slowly, but as the sports hall filled up with well-wishers and supporters the moral was strong, and everyone stepped up a gear."

The Men-Aces are hoping to raise enough money to buy Lola a cabin bed to enable all her medication, personal needs, and special food to be stored in one place.

And it's been a particularly busy period for the Men-Aces as they were recently treated to an adventure weekend at Rock and River in Mawdesley.

Deputy Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Noel Delaney officially opened the Men-Aces 24-hour football challenge

The trip had been paid for from the money the manager of the team and his wife, Carl and Mim Eaton, raised by completing the Greater Manchester Marathon.

They came up with the idea as many of the team members from the Men-Aces had not been away before, or experienced the activities which are on offer at Rock and River. These include climbing, canoeing, abseiling, archery and raft-building.

Mim said: "These lads had many fears to face, such as being away from familiar surroundings and breaking their routine.

"However they were able to overcome these challenges. During the weekend, they had a go at climbing, canoeing, rafting, orienteering, getting to grips with a bow and arrow and loading a rifle.

"The staff at the centre had understanding and patience and I want to say a massive thank-you to them.

"The den-making and fire-lighting was also a great success. It was an absolutely fantastic experience and the smiles never once left our faces.

"We also want to thank the Skelmersdale Community for their support in sponsoring us in the Greater Manchester Marathon. It was due to the generosity of residents that we were able to take the players away."

Local schoolchildren wait to play their part in 'The Legend of Parbold Hill' during the Street Festival of Arts and Music

Parbold Street Festival proves a crowd-puller again

THE Parbold Street Festival of Arts and Music once again proved a popular crowd-puller at the weekend.

An estimated 4,000-plus flocked to the village on Saturday when the event and was blessed with fine weather.

And although Sunday turned out wet and windy organisers say a further 2,000 festival-goers turned up to join in the annual feast of fun, history, arts and music.

With music venues, beer and gin festivals, a church service, street entertainers, a floating museum, fairground, a floating art gallery and other attractions, there was something for all ages, including the continuing story of the Legend of Parbold Hill!

Football project aims to help PTSD sufferers kick-start recovery

Report by Henry James

A MAN who suffered Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) after having a heart attack four years ago is kicking off a scheme aimed at helping fellow sufferers or those experiencing other health issues.

Richard Green from Skelmersdale believes taking up walking football can help PTSD sufferers to overcome the isolation which many experience following the condition.

And the 41-year-old is inviting anyone over the age of 18 to join in the first sessions to be held on Thursday (September 7) from 2 to 3pm at the Youth Zone in the town centre.

Games will be played at walking pace and both men and women are welcome.

Richard Green

Richard, who has worked in the mental health field for 15 years, said: "I was diagnosed with PTSD two years ago and have seen what it can do.

"The heart attack I suffered four years ago was a big shock to the system and was what caused the PTSD. Now I want to help people who may be in a similar condition and stop them feeling isolated.

"Counselling can help people sometimes, but often it does not work. Anti-depressants can also be hit and miss - they may work for some people and not others.

"But I believe sometimes something different can work and if people mix with others who have experienced similar conditions, they can understand that they are not on their own."

Following the initial games Richard is hoping to organise them every week.

He added: "West Lancs Community Restart team have supported me and helped me get the venue and the activity is also on the Active West Lancs website as well.

"I have worked hard on this and hopefully it will be fun for an hour and there will be no charge. The size of the games will obviously depend on how many people turn up."

26-year-old arrested after knife attack

The incident took place around midday on Saturday, August 26 in Beechtrees, Digmoor.

Police say that the victim was approached by another man who asked him for a cigarette and then attacked him with a knife.

A 26-year-old man later handed himself in to police.

A spokesman for Lancashire Police said: "The incident is not believed to be racially motivated. We would like to thank the community for their support, co-operation and understanding during this enquiry so far. Anyone with information is asked to call 101 or independent charity Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111."

Former MP in call to merge hospitals

by Danielle Thompson

FORMER Southport MP John Pugh has written an open letter to the Secretary of State for Health, asking him to consider merging Southport and Ormskirk Hospitals into just one site – with the other then being used as a convalescent hospital!

Mr Pugh penned the letter to Jeremy Hunt after the minister's recent visit to congratulate staff on their improved performance.

He wrote: "You are aware of the financial plight of the Southport and Ormskirk Trust and the additional cost it bears as a result of being on two sites. You will perhaps be less aware that the rejection of a hot or cold model (hot is emergency-based care; cold is ward-based care) for the configuration of services between the two sites under the last government was rejected largely for political reasons.

"It was an option in the Shields Report which was tasked with suggesting re-configuration variants following the amalgamation of two hospitals. It concluded that the separation of clinical services required improved transport arrangements which have simply never happened.

"In current circumstances it would be worthwhile re-visiting the hot/cold model rather than pursuing a strained linkage with the St Helens and Knowsley Trust, which is being considered.

"This would involve the relocation of children's A&E back to Southport along with paediatrics - thus strengthening A&E provision at Southport and freeing parts of the Ormskirk site to be used for convalescence and other purposes.

"This would significantly reduce the revenue costs of running services, bearing in mind that services were originally moved out of Southport to cover a substantial annual deficit at Ormskirk Hospital."

Karen Jackson, interim chief executive at Southport and Ormskirk NHS Trust, said: "NHS England established 44 sustainability and transformation partnerships last year to improve health and care.

"Each area is developing proposals around the needs of its population and the Cheshire and Merseyside Five Year Forward View was published in November 2016.

"Running parallel to this is a review in Southport, Formby and West Lancashire called Care for You which will set the strategic direction for the local health economy.

"Together we are drawing on the knowledge and experience of trust staff, GPs, social care professionals and other healthcare providers. We expect to be in a position to begin sharing our thinking from Care for You, which will be subject to independent challenge, with a much wider audience by spring 2018."

County's waiting list death toll revealed in drive to enlist more organ donors

Report by Henry James

NEW figures show that 134 people in Lancashire have died on the waiting list for an organ transplant over the past 10 years.

NHS Blood and Transplant (NHSBT) revealed the tragic number of deaths to mark Organ Donation Week (September 4 to 10) in a drive to enlist more donors by urging people to tell their families that's what they want.

Hundreds of potentially life-saving transplants are being missed every year because families don't know what their relative wanted. Left to make the decision for someone they love, families often decide it is safer to say no.

The reluctance to talk about the issue is contributing to a deadly shortage of organs.

In Lancashire, there are currently 133 people waiting for a transplant. They will only receive that life-changing call if people make sure their families know they want to be a donor.

Anthony Clarkson, assistant director of organ donation and transplantation for NHS Blood and Transplant, said: "It's a tragedy that people are dying unnecessarily every year in Lancashire waiting for transplants.

"We know that if everyone who supported donation talked about it and agreed to donate, most of those lives would be saved.

NHSBT nurse Marc Coe with empty transplant boxes representing missed life-saving opportunities

"This Organ Donation Week, tell your family you want to save lives. A few words now can make an extraordinary difference. It will also make things much easier for your family to make the right decision.

"If you want to save lives, don't leave it too late to talk to your family. In Lancashire there are more than 521,000 people on the NHS Organ Donor Register. However if you want to be a donor, your family's support is still needed for donation to go ahead.

"If you are unsure about donation, please ask yourselves as a family; what would you do if one of you needed a transplant?

"Would you accept a life-saving organ? If you'd take an organ, shouldn't you be prepared to donate?"

In Lancashire there is a particular need for more black and Asian people to talk about donation. There are 29 black or Asian people from Lancashire currently waiting for a transplant.

Patients from these communities make up 29% of the national transplant waiting list but they are less likely to agree to donate. Organs from people from the same ethnic background are more likely to be a close match and give the best chance of a positive outcome.

NHS Blood and Transplant surveys show that more than 80% of people support organ donation but only around 49% of people have ever talked about it. Research shows that women are 30% more likely to start a conversation about organ donation than men.

Families who agree to donate say it helps with their grief and that they feel an enormous sense of pride at knowing their relative gave others the chance of a new beginning.

NHS Blood and Transplant wants everyone in Lancashire to be able to save lives through organ donation and not be prevented from doing so because they have not told a relative their decision.

Council supports law on equality for disabled taxi users

Report by Kenny Parker

WEST Lancs Council has been revealed as being among a minority of local authorities which are enforcing a law requiring taxi drivers not discriminate against disabled passengers.

According to research by a disability activist just 18 of 39 councils in the region are expected to meet the government-recommended October deadline to ensure equal treatment for disabled taxi passengers.

A change in the Equality Act enacted in April this year means that taxi drivers face a fine of up to £1,000 if they refuse to transport wheelchair users or attempt to charge them extra.

However, the law only applies to drivers registered on council lists of wheelchair-accessible taxis, known as Section 167 lists.

A Freedom of Information request by disability activist, Doug Paulley, conducted with all councils in England, Scotland and Wales revealed that only 11 per cent have created a list, with a further 30 per cent intending to do so this year.

Nic Bungay, director of campaigns, care and information at Muscular Dystrophy UK, which lobbied for years for the law change, said: "Taxis are not a luxury for disabled people – they often represent the only way to get from A to B when public transport isn't accessible.

"This research comprehensively demonstrates how many councils are failing to ensure that disabled passengers are not penalised. We need them all to implement lists now as per the government's recommendations, and for the Department for Transport to promote the lists as a matter of urgency."

Drivers of wheelchair-accessible taxis must not discriminate against disabled passengers

The law requires taxi and private hire vehicles on local Section 167 lists to transport wheelchair users and to ensure they get into and out of vehicles in safety; travel in safety and reasonable comfort; and are able to either stay in their wheelchairs or not depending on their preference. They are also required to charge wheelchair users the same as non-wheelchair users.

Drivers failing to comply can face fines of up to £1,000 and may also have their taxi or Private Hire Vehicle (PHV) licence suspended or revoked by their licensing authority. Drivers can appeal for exemption from the list on medical grounds and can appeal to a magistrates court.

A spokesperson for West Lancs Council said: "The council has always kept a list voluntarily but has now updated this list to comply with the new legislation. The list was published on July 31, 2017 and the council has written to all drivers of licensed vehicles to inform them of the requirements of the new legislation."

Council tenants urged to apply for exclusive home contents insurance scheme

WEST Lancs Council is reminding council tenants in the borough that they can apply for an exclusive home contents insurance scheme.

The authority says the scheme offers tenants very competitive rates and benefits that other policies don't provide.

Premiums start from as little as 88p per week for £6,000 worth of cover for the over-60s, and £1.32 for £9,000 worth of cover for people under the age of 60.

Councillor Chris Wynn, the council's portfolio holder for finance, said: "The council obviously has an insurance policy to cover the buildings people live in, but this doesn't cover tenants' possessions they have in their homes.

"The rates are very competitive, and show how the council provides excellent value for money in providing services for its tenants.

"So, if you live in council accommodation, get in touch and sign up for our home contents insurance scheme."

Councillor Chris Wynn

- No excess to pay on any claims.
- Individual premiums don't go up if a claim is made against the policy.
- Insurance doesn't cost any more if the premiums are paid on a weekly, monthly or in a one-off annual payment.
- Although the scheme is underwritten by Aviva, it is managed by the council so tenants have a local point of contact at the authority for queries and claims.

Meanwhile, for an extra premium the scheme can now provide full cover for accidental damage.

The only increases in the cost of the council's insurance scheme in recent years has been due to the insurance premium tax rates increasing which is set by central government.

Payments can be made via Allpay, by credit and debit card, or by standing order.

St Joseph's Hospice placed in special measures

Report by Tom Martin

ST JOSEPH'S Hospice has been placed in special measures by inspectors and ordered not to take on any more patients until it improves the service.

The Thornton-based hospice, which takes in patients from the West Lancashire area , was assessed by the Care Quality Commission (CQC) across a three-day period in July and the results were published in a report last week, which labelled it "inadequate".

After visiting the hospice, concerned inspectors said the "seriousness of the breaches of regulations posed a high risk to people receiving care".

The CQC report states: "We used our enforcement procedures and served an urgent notice telling the provider to take action to put things right. The notice also told the provider not to admit any more people to the hospice until the areas of risk we identified had been addressed.

'Failings'

"We found medicines were not administered safely. We found failings with safe and secure storage of medicines, lack of safe administration including missed dosages of medicines and lack of consultation and safe protocols when people refused medicines, lack of guidelines for specialist administration of medicines and lack of adequate records for the administration of prescribed thickeners - used for thickening fluids for people with swallowing difficulties.

"We found the nursing staff was not receiving periodic supervision and staff employed were not appraised to ensure acceptable levels of competence were maintained or they demonstrated the necessary competences and skill to carry out specialised care safely.

St Joseph's Hospice

"Some of the systems for auditing the quality and safety of the service were not being carried out consistently and had not identified the failings we found. The overall rating for this provider is 'inadequate'. This means that it has been placed into special measures by CQC.

"Services placed in special measures will be inspected again within six months. If insufficient improvements have been made such that there remains a rating of inadequate for any key question or overall, we will take action in line with our enforcement procedures to begin the process of preventing the provider from operating the service "

Inspection report due to 'bad timing'

ST Joseph's Hospice bosses have claimed the damning Care Quality Commission inspection was due to bad timing and they are already in the process of improving the service.

George Foster, chair of trustees, said: "Everyone at the hospice is dedicated to providing the highest quality end-of-life nursing care to our patients.

"Over the last year, our board of trustees has been working diligently with the hospice's new senior management team to address some long-standing and persistent issues with regards to clinical practice.

"It was particularly disappointing that the CQC chose to inspect the hospice in July whilst we were in the middle of a major clinical change management process and only a matter of weeks after the appointment of our new clinical manager.

'Improved'

"We are already well aware of all the issues that have been raised by the CQC.

"In the past year, we have revised and improved our clinical governance structure and processes, implemented a new staff training system and have been working closely with our local Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) and other clinical stakeholders to address other long-standing issues, and this process remains on track.

"Our patients, families, staff and members of our community can be assured that the hospice is now providing a more professional, safer service than ever before, but one which is as compassionate and caring as people have come to expect."

Start of new school year prompts call to make road safety awareness a priority

Care trust issues tips for parents and pupils

Report by Henry James

WITH the onset of the new school year health professionals from Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust are urging parents and teachers to make road safety awareness among pupils a top priority.

Research for Think.Direct.gov.uk, the Department of Transport's dedicated road safety website, shows that young children cannot judge how fast vehicles are going or how far away they are.

During 2014 alone 187 children aged up to four years were killed or seriously injured while on foot in the UK, while some 85 cyclists aged eight to 11 were also killed or seriously injured.

Cathy Allen, care group manager at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust, who oversees school nurses, said: "'September is when children return to school and a time when our roads are busy. This, coupled with the weather getting colder and the days becoming darker, results in our roads becoming more and more dangerous.

"As a result, it is important children are made aware about road safety at a young age. Practicing and talking about how to remain safe on the roads early on prepares them for later in life when they walk alone.

"The number of people texting and making calls while walking is huge, and these distractions can lead to people getting hurt."

The trust has issued the following tips to keep families safe when walking to and from school and other journeys:

- Make holding hands your number one rule for when walking together.
- Teach your child the Green Cross Code – Stop Look and Listen.
- Wear something reflective or brightly coloured when walking in the dark.
- If you are using a buggy/push-chair on a hilly street, strap your wrist to the buggy handle, then if you slip and let go, the buggy won't roll away.
- Ask your school or local authority about cycle training in your area. Your child shouldn't cycle on roads until they have been trained.
- Check your child's bike to see if it's roadworthy. Look at brakes, tyres and lights/reflectors (when riding at dusk or at night you must have white front lights and red back lights and reflectors).
- Make sure the bike is the right size for your child.
- Make sure your child wears a helmet which fits and is worn correctly; it should not be pushed too far back on the head.
- Ensure your child wears some high-visibility clothing when cycling.

The largest numbers of child injuries occur between 8 and 9am and 3 and 7pm. During these times there are around 16 deaths or serious injuries to children under 16 every week.

For help and ideas on how to stay safe on the roads, visit www.brake.org.uk.

Lancashire Care also provides a school nurse text messaging service that enables children and young people between the ages of 11 and 19 to confidentially contact a school nurse for advice and support with physical and emotional health.

The service enables them to send messages during and outside school hours. School nurses in Lancashire can be contacted on 07507 330510 with responses sent Monday to Friday from 9am to 5pm.

MotorFest is a wonderful event but the charging of exhibitors is a step too far

HAVING just read your coverage of Ormskirk Motorfest, I thought you might be interested in a little insight from one of the exhibitors.

I have been displaying my vehicle at the Motorfest since day one and have enjoyed every minute of it.

I have seen it grow and grow, to what is now a wonderful event, for both the town and the North West.

Great emphasis is put on the fact that it is a free event, which it is - for the public. However, I and other exhibitors were shocked this year to be told that, if we wanted to be involved in the parade, then we would have to pay £10 for the privilege!

I understand sponsorship is difficult in these straightened times, but I felt that this was a step too far.

It is the exhibitors who look after these vehicles and keep them in the great condition that we all saw at the Motorfest, that makes the event in the first place.

I really hope that the organisers and West Lancs Council reconsider this for next year as I feel it's a bit much when the exhibitors have to pay to be seen by the public for free.

MotorFest exhibitor, details supplied

Failure to provide adequate parking shows council's lack of consideration for town-centre residents - again!

I FULLY understand the desire for the council and businesses to hold the Ormskirk MotorFest - indeed, my own kids used to enjoy it - but it's 11.45am and my driveway has again been blocked for the third time this morning!

So bad is the situation that I have had to move my car to Aughton, so I can walk to it this afternoon to be able to drive to work at 2pm.

Just as I arrived back my drive was blocked again.

It appears the council has absolutely no consideration for residents who live in the centre of Ormskirk and fail year after year to arrange adequate parking,

Where are the traffic wardens?

A.T., Ormskirk, by email

Latest Moor Street 'improvement' scheme is a pointless project

WHY on earth are West Lancs Council spending yet more money on Moor Street in Ormskirk?

After the massive and expensive works done recently, which have been very successful, why do they want to do more alterations?

The paving in Aughton Street is in an appalling condition, and positively dangerous in parts.

I am amazed that somebody hasn't sued the council before now, as there must have been a lot of falls there. I have actually been one of them!

Please, councillors, look at the problems there before wasting more money supposedly improving something that doesn't need improvement.

Mrs Marilyn Porter, Brighouse Close, Ormskirk

PICTURE of the week

Liverpool actor Izzie Major takes on her role as 'Ona' in the Legend of Parbold Hill, one of the performances in last weekend's Festival of Arts and Music staged throughout the village. Picture by Martyn Snape.

Council should spend the money where it's needed

THE comment by Councillor John Hodson (Champion, August 30) that planned work in Moor Street, Ormskirk "will help to make this gateway into Ormskirk even more attractive to people arriving by public transport" is fatuous.

Does he not realise that the very same people may well have witnessed the disgusting state of the untended gutters, pavements and central reservations on their way into (what once was) a beautifully cared-for market town?

They will probably have passed the apparently abandoned fire station roundabout, at one time a delightfully maintained and immaculate 'gateway' into Ormskirk.

Ashamed resident, details supplied

How many men does it to take to dismantle market stalls?

I WONDER if the local council can explain why so many workers are needed to help remove the metal frames of the market stalls?

Whilst walking down Aughton Street, which I do most Thursdays around 6pm, I am always amazed why so many - at least 10 - council workmen are employed for this purpose.

Surely the job could be done by two men with the money saved being used to clear the weeds around the pavements and put flowers in the roundabouts. I am not naive enough to think this could actually happen but it is perhaps food for thought for our local council.

Using Tawd as dumping ground is a disgrace

IT'S an absolute disgrace that once again rubbish has been dumped at the Tawd.

This time it happens to be a ripped-out full bathroom suite, along with left-over-plaster bucket, discarded tiles etc.

This area is constantly used for tipping just before the bridge that connects the paths that lead up to Lathom school.

If someone has paid to have this removed correctly they should be asking questions.

Whitemoss Fund money should go to those directly affected by site

ON August 2 the Champion ran an article headed 'Community projects awarded grants totalling £80,000 from Whitemoss fund' and I see Rob Routledge says he is committed to supporting our local community.

This money should go to communities that are directly affected by Whitemoss hazardous waste landfill site. However, most of the money has gone to places that are not disturbed by Whitemoss.

The purpose of the fund is to compensate the affected communities for the bad neighbour impact.

The communities within a mile of the site have to live with the problems created in their everyday lives. Examples include smell, dust and noise and potential threat to their health.

The money has been given to projects in Westhead, Burscough and Up Holland that are too far away to be affected.

I bet some of those who have benefited don't even know where Whitemoss is.

This money should be more fairly distributed. Let the money go where it should go - to projects within a mile of the site.

County Cllr. Terry Aldridge, Little Digmoor

Setting children a great example? I don't think so!

AFTER shopping at Asda on Saturday, August 26 I put my trolley where it was easy for another customer to get, specially disabled customers, making sure it didn't roll anywhere.

Then a woman in her car just pulling out of a parking bay for those with children on board hurled abuse at me shouting "silly old woman!"

What a lovely example to the child or children in the car!

Rufford-born actor lands leading role in Cilla musical

FORMER Tarleton High pupil, Andrew Lancel is set for a leading role in Cilla - The Musical, which has its world premiere at the Liverpool Empire tomorrow (Thursday, September 7).

Lancel, a familiar face from TV after featuring in Coronation Street and The Bill among others, plays music mogul Brian Epstein in the production tracing the Cilla Black story from teenage dreams of stardom to becoming one of Britain's best-loved entertainers.

The Rufford-born actor has played the role before in Epstein - The Man Who Made The Beatles, which opened in Liverpool before transferring to the Leicester Square Theatre in 2014 where Lancel's performance was described as "mesmerising".

It tells the story of how an introduction by John Lennon to Epstein changes the young Priscilla White's life forever. And by the age of just 25 she had become singer and TV Star Cilla Black, a No. 1 selling artist at the forefront of the Brit-Pop music scene.

The musical score is a soundtrack to the 1960s including Cilla's greatest hits, Anyone Who Had a Heart and Alfie, along with Twist and Shout by the Beatles and California Dreamin by The Mamas and The Papas.

The show will be at the Liverpool Empire until Saturday, September 16.

Couple's party boost for children's charity

John and Alma Mercer held a fundraising garden party at their home in Bickerstaffe in aid of Mawdesley-based Rainbow House which provides specialist therapy and education for children with disabilities, brain injuries, and life-limiting conditions.

More than 60 people attended the party - the third that the couple have staged - enjoying Alma's homemade cakes and refreshments, a mini-shooting range and treasure hunt, plus many other games and stalls.

The couple's son-in-law, Stew Cranage, who is also a fundraising volunteer at Rainbow House, said: "John and Alma are thrilled with the total raised and wish to thank everyone for the support shown.

"The Bickerstaffe community have been exceptional in their support. The party has already raised £1,200 and amazingly we are still receiving donations from family and friends who were unable to attend on the day."

The couple with their cheque for £1,200

Creative writing graduate wins university's first Playwriting Prize

GRADUATE Ryan Leder, who completed his BA (Hons) creative writing degree this year, has been awarded Edge Hill University's first Dame Janet Suzman Playwriting Prize.

His script for Numbered Days impressed the panel with its effective use of dialogue, tight structure and creative approach to topical issues of identity and sexuality.

The play has since been performed at The Core at Corby Cube's Launchpad Festival in Northamptonshire, where it received critical acclaim.

Ryan said: "Edge Hill has been extremely generous to me since the day I applied. For all the support, scholarships and opportunities it has given me, I owe it a great deal. Now, with this incredible prospect that the judging panel and Dame Janet herself have given me, I have the incentive and asset to advance my career further and do justice to this wonderful award."

Dame Janet commented: "I am delighted this first Playwriting Prize has been awarded to someone who has gone through the mill of an initial production and on to further development of his work. The pathway to a successful and creative life in the theatre is marked out and I wish him all the luck in the world for the future".

The prize aims to recognise, nurture and develop students' talents writing for the stage. Submissions had to be performable by four actors or fewer within a 45 to 60-minute duration. The prize was open to Edge Hill students on creative writing and performing arts courses.

Ryan will receive a £1,000 prize, and the play will be produced and staged at the university's Arts Centre. He will receive the award at Edge Hill's Scholarships Evening in November.

Cancer survivor's specialist bra shop off to flying start

A FORMER school teacher who has beaten breast cancer twice has set up a lingerie business specialising in supplying bras for fellow survivors of the disease.

Shirley Rigby opened her shop, Boobilicous, on the site of the Old Post Office in Hall Green, Up Holland in August and says it has already been well received.

The 54-year-old decided to open the shop after experiencing difficulty sourcing specially-made bras locally.

So, after, taking redundancy from her job as a cover supervisor at Up Holland High School, where she had worked for 14 years, she used the money to set up Boobilicious.

The shop officially opened on Saturday August 19 and Shirley says: "The opening went really well.

"Everybody who came along said they loved the shop and commented on its nice atmosphere."

Southport Air Show set to roar into action!

The Champion has five pairs of tickets up for grabs for the spectacular Friday night launch event...

THE skies over Southport are set to thunder with the roar of jet engines, the thrum of propellers and the sight of amazing flying machines at the 2017 Air Show.

The 26th annual Southport Air Show takes place on Saturday and Sunday, September 16 and 17, but on Friday, September 15, the skies will light up with displays from The Blades, Fireflies Display Team, Tigers Free Fall Team and the spectacular Eurofighter Typhoon.

There will be pyros and LED lights on planes, as well as a firework finale on the beach to end the special evening.

And to celebrate the Champion is giving away five pairs of tickets.

To be in with a chance of winning two tickets for the Friday evening display all you need to do is tell us the answer to the following question:

Q: What milestone birthday did Southport Air Show reach last year?

Send your answer, along with a name, valid email address and a daytime telephone number, to: Southport Air Show Competition, Champion Newspapers, Clare House, 166 Lord Street, Southport, PR9 0QA. The deadline for entries is Friday, September 8.

The prize is for a pair of tickets for the Friday night launch which allows access for two people. Under-fives go free. Parking is not included.

Discounted tickets for each day of the Air Show are still available to buy in advance and start at just £6.50 (including all fees).

As well as numerous flying displays throughout the weekend, there will be a host of fun-filled activities taking place on the ground including military tanks, a diving tank, a replica Typhoon and the return of the much-loved beach explosions!

Councillor Marion Atkinson, Sefton Council's member for regeneration and skills, said: "The 26th Southport Air Show is, as ever, shaping up to be a fantastic three-day event for all the family and I can't wait to see the huge crowds across the weekend.

"With the return of the Friday night flying displays, this promises to be an exciting weekend for the Southport Air Show and the whole of the borough. If you are planning to attend one of the three days, please get there early and make the most of your visit to Southport."

Edge Hill Short Story Prize winner named

DAISY Johnson has been named the winner of the £10,000 Edge Hill Prize for the Short Story at the Edinburgh International Book Festival.

Johnson's collection, Fen, features stories are set in an uncanny and weirdly magical East Anglian landscape. It was chosen from a shortlist of five.

The delighted winner said: "This is the first prize I've won for the collection and it is such a privilege. I am honoured to be among so many amazing female short story writers, and I hope to be involved with Edge Hill again in the future."

The Edge Hill Short Story Prize is the only UK-based award that recognizes excellence in published short story collections and also includes a £1,000 Reader's Choice Award to an author from the shortlist. This went to Lucy Caldwell for her collection, Multitude.

Prize organiser, Ailsa Cox, professor of short fiction at the Ormskirk university, said: "This has been a bumper year for the prize. The standard of entries has been astonishing."

"I'm a busy mum of a lively 2 year old and a 4 month old baby, so finding a way to lose weight that's easy, fits around me and my family and most importantly, works was essential. Slimming World couldn't be more perfect.

My Slimming World group is a special place. Right from the start my Consultant and the other members were so welcoming and caring they're like a second family. We have a lot of fun and really support each other through the ups and downs of losing weight, as well as swapping recipes and food ideas. They've given me plenty of tips to save money on my shopping too.

I love it that we can still enjo,y so many of the family's favourite meals, like pasta dishes, curries and roast dinners - and I can still have the occasional treat like chocolate. Best of all I'm never hungry and I'm in control. Thanks to Slimming World I've now been at Target for 12 months and with the support of my group I had no problem getting back to Target after the birth of my daughter. I feel so happy knowing I'm so much healthier. If you want to lose weight and live happy find yourself a Slimming World group. I was so glad I did and I promise you will be too."

A group of West Lancashire slimmers recently took part in a sponsored walk in aid of CRUK. The Walk All Over Cancer with Slimming World event where slimmers across the UK and Ireland were sponsored to hit a self-selected steps target by their friends and families. To honour their achievements and raise even more money for the charity, the group held their own celebration walking 560,000 steps together at Edge Hill University - an achievement many of the group members would never have dreamt possible before losing weight.

The champion slimmers attend Slimming World groups throughout West Lancashire. As well as raising vital funds for charity, the members aimed to raise awareness of the fact that keeping a healthy weight can reduce the risk of developing 13 types of cancer.

Mum of two and Slimming World member Sarah Salka, who took part in the event has lost 3st since joining her local group . She said she walks regularly now but admits "I couldn't run for a bus' before losing weight".

Sarah said before losing the weight an event like this would have felt completely out of reach. "I barely had the energy to go about my day, let alone go for a walk. I would never have thought I could do something like this."

"From the moment I walked through the door of my group everything changed. I was welcomed so warmly and instantly made to feel like I was worth something again. Everyone in that room became a friend in seconds, and they still are. We are all there for the same reason - to lose weight and to help and support each other to do the same."

"As the weight came off I found I had so much more energy. The eating plan means I can fill up on lots of tasty everyday food - I never feel hungry or deprived and I can still treat myself every now and then too."

"In our group we started talking about easy ways to fit steps into our everyday lives and I soon realised how much more I could be walking without much more effort. Parking the car further from work, walking with friends, getting off the bus a stop early, playing with the kids/grandkids, taking the stairs instead of the lift - I soon found easy ways to fit in more steps and build up my activity levels at a pace that suited me. Completing this walk with all of my Slimming World friends has been the icing on the cake of my weight loss journey."

Super slimmer Keeley Williams lost 3st 7lb with her local Slimming World group

"After several attempts of losing weight unsuccessfully on my own I decided to join my local Slimming World group after seeing so many success stories in the Champion.

My group is a special place. Right from the start my Consultant and other members were so welcoming and caring - they're like a second family. We have a lot of fun and really support each other through the ups and downs of losing weight, as well as swapping recipes and food ideas. They've given me plenty of tips on eating out and socialising, which was really important to me as a 22 year old.

I love that I can still enjoy so many of my favourite meals like roast dinners, spaghetti bolognese and curry - and I've been able to have my favourite tipple of gin and slimline tonic. Best of all I'm never hungry and I'm in control.

Thanks to Slimming World I have shrunk from a size 14 to a size 10 and I'm feeling so much healthier and happier. I am so glad I walked into my Slimming World group."

Bring a Pringles tin and build your own Enigma machine!

AN amateur radio and technology group are running a free session aimed at inspiring others to share their knowledge.

The Quantum Amateur Radio and Technology Society, based at Cottage Lane Mission in Ormskirk, are hoping to widen their net by holding their Techno JAM event at Southport College on Mornington Road from 11am to 4pm on Saturday, September 9.

Society chairman, Derek Hughes, said: "TechnoJAM is a completely free event, organised by the Quantum Amateur Radio and Technology Society that will enable people who are interested in all forms of technology to come together and share their knowledge, learn new things and meet other technology fans.

"You don't have to be of any particular level of expertise to enjoy technoJAM, it caters for everyone - from beginners dabbling in technology for the first time, through to seasoned dabblers who have been doing it for a long time.

"It also appeals to all ages and we welcome everyone from primary and secondary schools right through to adults who have more time on their hands and want to learn new skills.

"Throughout the day there will be a show-and-tell area and a project area, running a variety of workshops including how to build electronic circuits and control them; how to encrypt and decrypt secret messages; and how to use 3D-printing.

"If you bring a Pringles tin, we can teach you to build yourself a top-secret Enigma machine!"

Further details and online registration can be found at technojam.uk.

Rosie kicks up a stink!

WEST Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has called for action from the Environment Agency after receiving complaints from residents and Simonswood Parish Council about unpleasant smells from a business on the nearby Knowsley Business Park.

From April to June this year the agency received 31 reports of a foul-smelling odour in the area from the Suez recycling station.

Having written to the agency, the MP confirmed that it is working with the operator to produce a plan identifying the root cause of the smell and its eradication.

In the meantime, Suez have carried out some mitigation work whilst a comprehensive resolution to the issue is sought.

Ms Cooper said: "I am grateful to the Environment Agency for taking action and to the operators, Suez, for carrying out short-term mitigation but clearly there has to be a longer term solution to the issues raised by my constituents and the parish council.

"I will continue to monitor the situation closely until I am assured that local residents will no longer have to put up with the odour."

Guests at the Athena Charity Ball which raised £5,000 for the Alzheimer's Society

Carers' ball raises £5,000 for Alzheimer's Society

REVELLERS at a care-themed ball have raised £5,000 for a national charity.

Care providers from the Athena Health Care Group, which has homes in Ormskirk and Southport, launched the Community Activities Hub earlier this year to bring together care home residents from both areas to make friends, enjoy day trips out and hold idea sessions with other care providers for the elderly community in the North West.

The group staged the Athena Charity Ball - attended by guests including the Mayor and Mayoress of Sefton and the Mayor of Maghull - at the Ramada Hotel in Southport to raise funds for the Alzheimer's Society.

Lesley Malone, Athena Health Care Group events co-ordinator, said: "The ball was enjoyed by everyone who came to the evening and supported a worthy cause. We also held an auction on the evening featuring memorabilia and sporting items.

"Now we are in the process of organising the next ball, to be held early next year, and deciding the charity to benefit."

Still time for youngsters to take up reading challenge

YOUNG book lovers are being reminded that there is still time for children of any age to take part in the Lancashire Reading Journey.

Organised by the county council, the initiative is now in its third year and runs until Saturday, September 23. Children just need to visit a library to join in and complete as many tasks as they want to, including reading books of their choice, writing, making things and exploring.

On joining youngsters receive an activity book listing 13 different Lancashire-inspired characters. Each character has four optional tasks to complete. Children can choose the characters they want to collect and the tasks they want to participate in. After completing tasks, they will be rewarded with stickers and certificates.

Any type of books can be read and stories on CD also count, as do e-books and audio downloads.

County Councillor Peter Buckley, Lancashire's cabinet member for community and cultural services, said: "This year more than 6,700 children have taken part in the Reading Journey so far.

"There's still a few weeks to go before the deadline, and it really is a great way to encourage children to keep reading and learning. As well as being fun, it is also a good way to boost children's literacy, which not only helps with their education but also improves their life chances in the future."

It's free to join the library and under-16s can join by themselves.

Meanwhile young people aged 12 to 24 also have the opportunity to volunteer as a 'Reading Hack' at their local library, to support children on the journey and help with organising and running events.

MP gets action on walkway litter problem

FOLLOWING concerns raised by a number of constituents, Rosie Cooper met with Network Rail staff at Ormskirk bus station to discuss the litter situation on the walkway between the bus and rail stations.

Previously, the West Lancs MP had secured assurances from the rail company to ensure regular cleaning and maintenance of the area.

Now, having contacted West Lancs Council about the issue of litter, they have accepted the need for increased litter provision and have installed one new bin and replaced another damaged bin at the approach to the walkway.

Ms Cooper said: "I'm grateful to Network Rail and West Lancs Council for recognising constituents' concerns and the litter issues in what is the gateway to the town for many people arriving by public transport.

"We hope to see the bins used and an improved appearance of the walkway and surrounding areas.

"The two new litter bins installed, combined with commitments received from Network Rail for regular litter picks, should go some way to making commuters' and visitors' arrival to the town a more pleasant experience.

"I would encourage everyone to make use of these bins and keep the area tidy."

Drunks on planes? I'll stick to the trains, thanks!

I WATCHED a BBC Panorama special recently, dealing with the drunken behaviour of aeroplane passengers and the mayhem they can and do cause among fellow holidaymakers and cabin crew.

The programme honed in on the ready supply of alcohol available at airports at just about any time of the day, and the supply of duty-free miniatures obviously bought to be consumed on the aircraft.

I packed in drinking alcohol nearly half my lifetime ago (after it very nearly killed me) but while I am not proud of my former drinking habits, I was, and still am, proud of what one bar manageress once said to me: "One thing I like about you is that no matter how much you have been drinking, you still remain a gentleman."

Personally I do not wish to see Draconian measures introduced to curb the amount anyone has to drink, blanket bans would spoil many a holiday. But what was clear to me was that two measures in particular could cut drastically the problem of drunks on an aircraft.

Firstly, ban the sale of miniatures at duty free; but more importantly, refuse to let anyone clearly under the influence of alcohol board a plane in the first place. Actually, I thought this was already if not an actual law, at least a rule supposedly followed by most airlines.

This is not a problem for me anyhow. With all my money tied up in Norfolk, literally, I don't fly to Majorca or anywhere else all that often. In fact, I suppose my flying days, like the drinking ones, are now well behind me.

I used to fly largely on business trips around the UK, and back in those days of turbo prop Viscounts things were much more civilised with a drink or two on the plane simply part of the fun. I remember the first time I flew on a jet, a BAC 1-11, from Edinburgh to what was then Speke Airport. The problem with that flight was not folk drinking too much, it was drinking at all!

Being somewhat speedier than the trusty Viscount, by the time the air hostess had served coffee to those who required it and provided me and accompanying photographer with our beers - and a glass! - the 'Fasten Seat Belts' light came on and they were hurriedly taken back, the beer untouched!

Anyway, I'm by no means certain that I really want to fly. Get to the airport hours before the flight for some reason; put up with sometimes hours of delay; and then, apparently have to endure drunken brawls and sexual assaults on the plane would not a happy holiday experience make.

No, I reckon I'd rather take my chances on Eurostar or a ferry if I wanted to travel to Europe - particularly as the Panorama programme pointed out that the low price of flying these days is to a great part due to the sale of duty-free alcohol, so getting rid of the obnoxious drunks would certainly lead to a rise in the cost of flying anywhere.

Talking of the cost of travel, I remember a few years ago buying an open return for a train journey to Norwich. The price seemed somewhat high and I jokingly remarked to the ticket office guy that I could fly cut-price to New York for the same money.

His reply, I thought, was rather good. "Yes, you probably could", he said, "but most of them planes don't stop at Norwich, do they?"

I do know from my days flying that years ago there was indeed a flight from Liverpool to Norwich, though I rather suspect it was hardly that busy and certainly doesn't survive today. And even if it did, I can't see two large collie dogs being allowed either as under-seat stowage or in the luggage lockers!

RESIDENTS of a sheltered housing scheme in Ormskirk enjoyed a day out in Southport.

Thelma Culshaw, secretary of Queens' Court in Aughton Street, said the residents, who call themselves, The Group, felt like they were on holiday because of "the lovely sunshine."

National Dementia Carers' Day 2017

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Sunday 10th September

Many people living with dementia rely on the love, support and care of family members, friends and unpaid carers.

National Dementia Carers' Day, founded by the Alzheimer's Society, Dementia UK and SweetTree Home Care Services was established to share, recognise, and support this crucial role.

NDCD has been founded by a coalition of partners including Dementia UK, Alzheimers Society and SweetTree Home Care Services.

The founders are all dedicated to improving quality of life for those living with dementia, but also the quality of life of those caring for a loved one living with the condition.

The founders of National Dementia Carers' Day are aligned in the overall aim of raising awareness of and supporting the role of informal dementia carers.

Caring for a loved one with dementia poses many challenges for families and caregivers.

To live well with dementia means having the right care, and it's time to recognise and share what it means to be a dementia carer.

Join in and support National Dementia Carers' Day by sharing your story.

High flying youngsters appear at University

Children and young people from Lancashire Youth Performing Arts (LYPA) staged a modern adaptation of the Disney classic, Peter Pan Junior at Edge Hill University in July and the young performers rendition of the timeless tale clearly impressed their audience.

Sharon Powell LYPA's Principal said: "I was lost for words when I saw the flight scene, to see the children actually flying over the Thames, around Big Ben and then onto Neverland was magical."

She added that the group received some "amazing feedback" with comments including, "A highly professional performance", "What an inclusive group, every child enjoyed themselves" and "The scenery, lighting and set was fantastic."

After a summer break LYPA has started again, meeting at the Rose Theatre, Edge Hill University, St Helens Road, Ormskirk, and children aged three-19 years are invited to join them.

All teaching staff are CRB checked, first aid trained and professional performers in their own right.

As well as showcasing members' talents each year with performances at the Rose Theatre they also offer nationally recognised Arts Awards from the Arts Council England.

If you would like your child to join please contact Sharon on 07801 965 104 or email: info@lypa.co.uk. Their website is www.lypauk.com.

Christie classic opens Little's new season

Southport Dramatic Club present And Then There Were None by Agatha Christie

TO commemorate the 80th Anniversary of the building of the Little Theatre, the 2017-8 SDC season opens with Agatha Christie's most popular mystery, And Then There Were None, and dramatised by the author herself.

Ten strangers are lured to a deserted island by a mysterious invitation. They soon discover they are marooned there with nobody else in sight.

Once they are all assembled, a gramophone record is played accusing each of them in turn of harbouring dark secrets and promising retribution.

As a fierce storm rages, one by one they meet a gruesome end, predicted by a poem, Ten Little Soldiers.

A dramatic race against time ensues. Who will be next? Can the survivors find the killer before he/she strikes again? Could the killer actually be one of them?

Featuring a stellar cast including Adrienne Ledson, Howard Kernahan, John Sharp and Giles Davidson, and directed by Celia Timmington, the play opens on Friday, September 22 and runs until Saturday, September 30.

Celia Timmington said: "The next production at the Little Theatre is, And Then There Were None. The large cast have learned their lines this summer between lying in the sun and the odd glass of wine. Now rehearsals are seriously busy with them enjoying shrieks of laughter followed by screams of fear. This is Agatha Christies' very best play. Not to be missed."

Tickets available from the Box Office. Tel. 01704 530521/530460.

I was shocked to be accused of glamourising dangerous driving on rural roads!

David was able to enjoy Scotland safely in his Mazda MX-5

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

IT'S BEEN a while since I've had a pen pal but I seem to have picked one up at Classic Car Weekly. He doesn't write often but the topic's always the same – I'm apparently guilty of glamourising driving dangerously on rural roads.

So he'll no doubt be writing in when he discovers I've just spent a weekend driving around the Scottish Highlands, not to visit a distant aunt in Fort William, but for fun.

I'll admit it; I did nearly 1000 miles over four days for no good reason other than to drive on great roads simply because I enjoy doing it.

We'll start with the location. Pick up any of the glossy travel mags and they'll tell you that the A82 between Glasgow and Glencoe is Europe's best stretch of road but this simply isn't true – you can't enjoy driving it because you'll be stuck behind a lorry winding its way up to Inverness, and you can't stop to admire the view because all the laybys are full of Dutch motorhomes.

But the A87 and the A887 are utterly wonderful. Set off from Southport tomorrow morning and you'll be there by mid-afternoon, and because you'll want to stay overnight you'll be giving the Scottish economy a helping hand, too.

But the real joy is you can do all of this without going anywhere remotely near a speed limit.

Yes, I'll freely admit that there were far too many people up in the Highlands driving dangerously in BMW X5s and doing silly overtakes in Honda Civic Type-Rs, but that's something you're as likely to see in Parbold as you are in Pitlochry.

The trick is to drive around in a car that thrills at real world speeds.

I spent the weekend up there in my Mazda MX-5 but you'd be just as happy in any MG, Caterham, Lotus or Alfa Spider – and if you do need something with an extra set of seats, anything vaguely old with a Peugeot, Ford or BMW badge up front should suit the bill.

Some of the best drives I've ever done have been at the helm of a derv-driven Peugeot 306 and a 15-year-old Ford Mondeo, so don't knock 'em until you've tried them!

But the end result is always the same; you emerge with a smile on your face, the Highlands economy gets a boost, and – unless you really do drive like a berk – Police Scotland don't have to deal with unnecessary paperwork.

Drive sensibly of course, but freely admit that it's something you enjoy, like playing a piano or going fishing.

I might even arrange for my pen pal to go up there and for there to be an Austin-Healey 3000 waiting at the other end. Chances are, I suspect he'll enjoy it....

Ormskirk CC players, supporters and officials celebrate after the triple success.

Howzat for a historic Ormskirk hat-trick!

ORMKSIRK Cricket Club are celebrating an amazing hat-trick after all its three senior teams won their league titles on Saturday.

The 1st XI drew at Bootle and after choosing to bat they piled up 239-1 dec thanks to runs from Andy Baybutt 46 and two unbeaten knocks from Michael Jones 90* and Josh Bohannon (80.)

In reply, the title was secured when Tom Hartley bowled Bootle skipper Craig Prince with the score on 97-4 and gave the visitors the extra point needed to lift the trophy, before the match then petered out in to a draw.

The 3rds claimed their title at Sefton Park with an 8 wicket win and 20 points.

It was then just down to the 2nds to complete the hat-trick and after they thrashed Birkenhead Park to collect 25 points they later learned that was enough to secure thier title too.

Ormskirk CC chairman Tim Dickinson said he was "very proud" of the achievement.

Ormskirk First XI are still hoping to win their own hat-trick of titles by winning the Lancashire Knockout and National Cup. They were due to play their Lancashire Knockout final match against Lowerhouse at Old Trafford on Sunday but the match was abandoned with Ormskirk 31-1 off 9 overs, the replay will now take place this Sunday at Blackpool CC starting at 11am.

Ormskirk visit New Brighton on Saturday.

● In the First Division on Saturday Burscough recorded a 36 run win at Birkenhead Park, Brendan Domigan top scored with an unbeaten 96 as the visitors were dismissed for 205 with Harris taking 5-82. In reply, Ben Van Niekerk took 6-48 to help bowl out the hosts for 169.

Skem fall at first hurdle in FA Cup

Skelmersdale United 1
Handsworth Parramore 2

SKELMERSDALE fell at the first hurdle in the FA Cup and it proved to be a costly loss as it meant the club missed out on £3,000 worth in prize money.

The game itself was a close one from start to finish and it could be said that neither team deserved to lose such was the intensity.

Skem went ahead on 18 minutes when Howarth's enterprise down the left saw the ball delivered low into the penalty area.

A poor clearance saw the ball run to Mooney on the 18 yard line and he created himself an angle to drive the ball across goal into the bottom corner.

Ten minutes later-Handsworth equalised when tidy build-up down the right put the ball at number nine Simon Harrison's feet. He jinked back and forth across the edge of the penalty area before firing the ball low inside Jack Sims right-hand post.

The winning goal which arrived on 69 minutes had more than an element of luck about it or at the very least was unorthodox.

Danny Buttle got a cross in from the left and the ball dropped near the penalty spot to Moxam who was leaning back, his left-foot shot hit the ground a yard in front of him and looped agonisingly into the top corner of the net.

Skelmersdale threw everything at Handsworth and pushed men forwards late on but wave after wave of attacks were thwarted.

Skem were due to face Droylsden last night (Tuesday, September 5) before they host Hyde United this Saturday.

Linnets prove hard to beat

Northwich Victoria 1
Burscough 1

IT'S been a while since Burscough supporters could look upon their team with a degree of optimism, but now the time is here, writes Neil Leathernbarrow.

They moved up two places in the league table on the back of three draws in a row, proving they are becoming hard to beat.

Saturday's trip to Northwich Victoria should have yielded three points but for a couple of excellent saves from former Burscough goalkeeper Richie Mottram.

Victoria opened the scoring when Jake Pollard lofted a free-kick high into the Linnets penalty area and home centre-half Reece Lyndon rose above everyone to put a header firmly inside the right-hand post.

On 33 minutes, Burscough's Ayinbong Mabhena brought a good save out of Vic's goalkeeper Mottram, then from a corner Will Threlkeld hit the crossbar as Mottram floundered.

Cummings was causing problems and on 56 minutes he got his reward. After a nice exchange on the right he cut into the area and went to strike the ball across the penalty area, a defender stuck out his hand and a penalty was given.

Up stepped the experienced Alex Parkes and Mottram had no chance of saving the equaliser.

For the next 25 minutes Burscough dominated. Lyndon saved Northwich in the 65th minute when he cleared off the line from Cummings after a swift passing build-up, then Threlkeld shot over the crossbar after Cummings set him up.

Both teams had to settle for a point in the end, but Dave Sutton is enthusiastic about his team and after the match he said: "We are a team based on hard work, we play good football and the young players are learning all the time and getting better all the time.

"We have a good coaching staff and the players have bought into what is going on,"

Burscough were due to host Padiham last night (Tuesday) before a trip on Saturday to Runcorn Town.
